Ready To Go

Wing Commander J. W. Gillan, famous aerial fier and fiancé of Actress Claire Luce, was reported missing after participating in a daylight aerial attack against Nazi occupied territory. He was one of the first British pilots to bomb Berlin.

MOSCOW, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Russian forces, pressing counter-attacks on the approaches to Leningrad, were reported today to have driven the Germans out of an entire zone along a vital railway for a three-day battle.

The Russian counter-attacks were smashing at the Germans, this report said.

It did not specifically locate the area claimed to have been cleared of the invaders but designated it as the zone between railway station "P" and village "N".

DRIVE OFF BOSNIA

Thick autumn fog hung over the north western sector where heavy artillery of both sides are duelling in the bitter struggle over Russia's second largest city.

A Red Star dispatch said 300 German planes flying despite the fog, attempted to bomb military objectives outside Leningrad but that 15 were downed and the others fled. Two of those fleeing were said to have been destroyed trying to reach their base.

At the opposite end of the battle-front the Red Army's defence ring around besieged Odessa was declared to have withstood a heavy assault and the press reported the Nazis shelled and set back outside of Kiev after two major attacks in the past month.

Along the entire battlefront fighting is raging without let-up, the Soviet mid-day communique said.

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—(AP)—A German communique asserted late today that the United States destroyer Greer opened an attack on a German U-boat at the order of President Roosevelt "to incite the American people into war against Germany."

The communique acknowledged that the German submarine fired two torpedoes.

It declared, however, that it first attacked by the destroyer in waters the Germans have declared to be within their blockade zone.

CLAIM JUSTIFICATION

The communique cited the U-boat commander was justified in his action because it was in self-defence and said he "was not in position to determine the nationality of the attacking destroyer."

The communique described the incident as a running battle, starting at 12:30 p.m. Thursday when a U-boat "was attacked by water mines at 62.31 degrees north and 27:06 west and pursued eastward."

This is in the North Atlantic, about 200 miles southwest of Reykjavik, Iceland, where the United States navy said the Greer's destination.

The engagement it said, lasted "until toward midnight, the destroyer pursuing the water mines unsuccessfully until then."

GERMAN CHARGES

The communique charged: 1.—That the United States navy's assertion that the U-boat was the aggressor "can only be to give at least the appearance of justification to an attack by an American destroyer on a German U-boat."

2.—That it proved that President Roosevelt, by his dispatch of the Greer, had given "general orders to American destroyers to reply to positions of German ships and U-boats but, beyond that, to attack them."

3.—That, finally, "Mr. Roosevelt in this way also is trying with all means at his disposal to provoke incidents in order to incite the American people into war against Germany."

4 American R.A.F. Pilots Drown As Ship Torpedoed

GLASGOW, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Four American recruits for the Royal Air Force were drowned and two injured when the ship which they were crossing at the time was torpedoed. It was disclosed here today.

The names of the drowned were not immediately available. Survivors, who were landed at a British port yesterday were: William Griffin, Mississippi; Jack Gilliland, Kansas; Rivers Grove, who was on the torpedoed ship; and James Jordan, San Francisco; B. F. Paul, Virginia.

The British Civilian Technical Corps have, said, to employ several thousand men between 18 and 50 years of age who are skilled as radio and automobile mechanics, electrical wiremen, instrument repairmen, metal workers, and in the technical occupations.

Arrangements with the British government provide for the return to the United States of American members of the Civilian Technical Corps at any time they are needed. The British government will provide transportation to and from Britain for Americans joining the CTC. The announcement said the CTC will furnish free board, lodging, uniforms and medical care in addition to salaries, ranging from $24 to $38 a week. The regular term of service will be for three years or the duration of the war, whichever is shorter.

RUSSIANS MUST GET HELP NOW

Britain Seeks To Convince U.S. Of Need For Real Aid

By EDWARD W. BEATTIE, JR., LONDON, Sept. 6.—(BUP)—Great Britain was said today to be striving to convince America that the democracies must offer definite, big-scale war aid to the Red army in the impending "showdown" conference at Moscow among the three biggest anti-Nazi powers.

Britons are pretty well convinced now that the United States is as far away from formal entry into the war as it ever was.

EXCLUSIVE

Hitler invaded Poland, but every day the British are pushing fresh effort behind a drive to make Americans aware of what they say is the danger that the democracies will miss "Nazi Germany's" opportunity.

The urgent basis of this drive is illustrated by recent speeches of Prime Minister Winston Churchill, Canadian Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who have all urged the United States in the war, British say, at what they would like to see that happen. The immediate purpose, these quarters believe, is to get the United States into the war, which is well advanced.

Edmonton Fair Board Receives $8,500 Cheque

First payment under the Dominion government City of Edmonton agreement under which the Edmonton Exhibition Association's grounds were leased to the department of national defence to house the No. 2 R.C.A.F. Manning Pool, was made to the association Friday afternoon.

A cheque for $8,500 was forwarded to P. W. Abbott, K.C., managing director of the Exhibition Association, by A. Campbell, city comptroller.

It represents the compensation agreed upon to be paid to R. James Speers by the federal government for the cancellation of the contract under the war duration covering the operation of the fair race meeting here.

$2,000 STILL OWING

A further $2,000 is still owing the Exhibition Association for compensation for abandoning the livestock show at the summer fair. The federal government agreed to pay this amount to reimburse the association for expenses incurred in preparation for the livestock show.

Under the terms of the lease agreement the federal government was to pay $100,000 compensation during 1940, and $50,000 annually during the lifetime of the lease to permit the Exhibition Association to carry on its service to agriculture to northern Alberta.

Polio Increases

FREDERICTON, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Increase in New Brunswick infant paralysis epidemic continued without abatement Friday when nine new cases were reported. The provincial total has reached 229.

In schools throughout Canada, from dawn to dusk, keen-eyed young men from this Dominion and other Empire countries learn to become gunners in R.C.A.F. schools of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan. Nothing is left to hazard in the training of a gunner, for in actual combat, much depends on his sharp eyes and quick trigger finger. This photo, taken at the Bombing and Gunnery School in Jarvis, Ontario, shows a square-jawed young R.C.A.F. gunner, standing by a Vickers gun, ready for the word "go".

Ship Laden With Refugees Docks At Cuban Port

It was the end of a ghastly 17-day voyage for the refugees aboard the 1,745-hp merchant ship Navemar, built with accommodations for only 15 passengers.

Four passengers died on the high seas. There were seven expectant mothers aboard.

South America Will Join U.S. To Fight Nazis

Thousands of persons had to walk the four miles to the track for all six races were taken early in the day and two hours before position for the main event of the day at the starting points of the straight mile and three-quarters.

Italo Liner Sunk By British Subs

LONDON, Sept. 6.—(CP)—British submarines have sunk the 11,398-ton Italian liner Esperia off Tripoli and a second merchantman in a "successful attack on a south-bound enemy convoy between Taranto and Benghazi," the Admiralty reported today.

The communique reported the sinking of the big liner indicated she was serving as a transport.

A second communique identified the smaller merchantman as one of the Esperia, owned by the Italian government, which displaced about 4,000 tons but was capable of 18 knots and had been used by Italy for Indian Ocean commerce.

The direction and location between the southern coast of the Italian mainland and the Libyan shore of North Africa indicated the intercepted convoy was ferrying reinforcements for Axis forces in Libya across the Mediterranean.

Page Appointed London Minister

SYDNEY, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Sir Earle C. Page, minister of commerce, was appointed special minister from Australia to London.

Sir Earle was named yesterday after former Prime Minister R. G. Menzies, now minister of defence, had declined the post on the ground he did not believe he could handle full authority for Australia.

Mr. Menzies resigned as Prime Minister Aug. 28 after a quarrel with the minority Labor party which charged the cabinet approved a proposal to send him to London.

The Labor party insisted the situation was "too much harder" for the Prime Minister to leave.

Italy Admits War In Russia Tough

ROME, Sept. 6.—(UP)—The Fascist newspaper, Messaggero, admits today the Axis can not predict how long Italy will continue on the Russian front.

Hitler is a realist and a man of action. While the invasion of Russia was obviously a dangerous gamble, it was Hitler's one chance of beating America and he took it.

Hitler needs time to beat America so long as the British fleet still sweeps the seas. Hitler needs time for his fifth column to create further disunity among the American people, sabotage their factories and defeat them in their training camps, that sea into Africa and establish himself in the whole littoral of the South Atlantic in order to cripple America's sea-power in that vital area.

AMERICA is halfway across the world from the Soviet Union, but America—with a free people and a gigantic industry—is the reason why Hitler invaded Russia. American arm shipments, followed by America's entry into the war of 1914-18, proved decisive when Germany made her first bid for world domination. Today the spirit of the Russian people, the Lend-Lease Act and the possibility of American participation are the only things that lie between Hitler and the conquest of the world.

Conductor Ends 43 Years' Work

Forty-three years of railroading in Canada came to an end this week when Thomas E. Trace, C.N.R. passenger conductor, stepped down from the Continental. He is one of the best-known railmen in the city and has been conductor on the C.N.R. Continental on the Edmonton-Waterloo run for more than eight years.

Mr. Trace started work for the C.P.R. in his London, Ont. shops as a "rail" in 1898. In 1907 he joined the Grand Trunk Pacific and became a brakeman on trains going down the coast to Portage la Prairie. He became freight conductor on the G.T.P. in 1908, and continued on in the same position when that railway was amalgamated to form the C.N.R.

In 1923 he was promoted to passenger conductor, and he went "senior" on the Edmonton-Waterloo run in 1932. He ended his last run when the Continental pulled into Edmonton early Monday. A group of railway heads and friends were present to greet Mr. Trace and congratulate him on his retirement.

Mr. Trace, who lives with his family at 11034 132 Street, said he was "greatly glad to retire" and "quite ready" to devote most of his time to his garden and "putting around the house".

WAR SERVICES HAVE PLENTY INFORMATION

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—(CP)—If you are a Canadian citizen, you have plenty of information on the war services department, through use of national registration cards, can tell you.

For instance, N. Maclean of Winnipeg wrote to a Toronto paper regarding whereabouts of a Rodrick MacLeod who left Stornoway, Scotland, in 1923 and was in Winnipeg in 1924.

Here's what national war services found out for him: There are 30 Rodrick MacLeods in Canada over the age of 16; 26 were born in Scotland, seven came to Canada in 1922, and two came from Stornoway. By provinces the Rodrick MacLeod register is: Nova Scotia, one; New Brunswick, one; Manitoba, four; Alberta, five; Ontario, seven; British Columbia, 12.

Now it's up to Mr. MacLean to learn where his Rodrick MacLeod is by writing to the seven MacLeods who came to Canada in 1922 and whose addresses were supplied him.

Your Figure, Madame!

Own is a great country for clubs with unique membership requirements. In Manhattan, one of the newest is the Stralino Club. To belong the girls must be six feet or over without shoes, and somewhere between 18 and 25 years old. The masculine members must be at least six feet two, and between 30 and 35. The sky is the limit on height. The tallest member to date is a lad who towers six feet six.

The club is only four months old and already has 100 members. They are very strict about maintaining their high standards and no little girl of five feet eleven can get by in high heels.

The main purpose of the club is to get together and have fun. There are parties each week. In summer, they swim, take boat rides and trips, and go hiking. In winter, they roller skate, ice skate, and go for sleigh rides. They also bowl and get in lots of dancing. The girls are in wonderful luck. For the first time in their lives, they are holding their heads up. Belonging to a tall group encourages them to be natural and they are beginning to believe that it is a distinct advantage to be taller than average.

The girls wear high heels, their favorite gay colors, and perkily have instead of trying to camouflage their height with somber colors and conservative styles. They trade shopping tips on where to buy clothes or have them made and

Annual Migratory Bird Convention Will Be Held In Protected Region

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—(CP)—The annual convention of the birds, when millions of a dozen different species pass in the James Bay area to gather their strength for long flights to winter feeding places, will be held this year in Canadian territory offering them new security, mines and resources officials said last night.

One of the largest bird migrations in the world takes place in the James Bay area. Flying northward in the spring, the millions of geese, ducks and shore birds pause briefly at James Bay. Then they fan out into the north to raise their young.

At the James Bay coastlands of the bird migration, hawks have been created by the Dominion and Provincial governments, where even natives are not permitted to hunt birds. A major addition to these sanctuaries will be made this year by setting aside 600 square miles of the Island of Akimiki.

Within the next few weeks the bird millions will be flying into the James Bay funnel from the north, travelling slowly just ahead of bad weather.

Officials who watch the annual migration said that the condition of the flocks is good this year.

Premier Fraser Is Not Surprised At U-Boat Attack

SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand, admitting interest in the U.S. Greer incident, said Friday he was not surprised at the submarine attack on the American destroyer.

He declined comment of a specific nature on the incident, however, insisting that "The American people you can't would think I am pushing them into the war."

He endorsed wholeheartedly the plea of Prime Minister Mackenzie King, of Canada, for more American support of Great Britain's war effort.

"We must co-operate if we are to see democratic victory," he said. "Our 600,000 New Zealanders now serving overseas are fighting to the utmost for that and I am sure that you too will do everything

Who's Ocean Is It?

There was no uncertainty in the mind of the commander of U.S. Greer as to what it was that went past his ship Friday morning somewhere out in the Atlantic. He identified the vessels as torpedoes fired from a submarine. He was in no quandary either as to the appropriate procedure to be followed or the depth charges ordered, with results unknown, and paddled along with the mako to Iceland.

Back in Washington, a naval man observed "You cannot see a torpedo track at night," thereby clearing up the point that the attack must have been made in daylight; from which the plain inference is that the sub-commander knew it was a United States warship he was shooting at.

What follows, time will show. Berlin promptly said it had no information, and officials at Washington withheld decision. Not so the isolationist politicians. Senator Van Nuys spoke for them, as follows: "I would not think this angle is important. I have been in the war, but I did keep sticking our neck out—as we did very much in the case to Iceland—something is bound to happen."

The isolationist view appears to be that a United States warship has no business sailing the Atlantic without proper orders of course, but that the appearance in Britain never went the length of saying the fleet should be tied in port lest the Fuehrer take offence if it went to sea.

Eleven Weeks

The end of the eleventh week finds the Russian army still unbroken, fighting desperately along the whole front from the Baltic Sea to the Black, and carrying on defensive-offensive in all three sectors. Berlin admits the Russians are counter-attacking fiercely in the centre and the south, while in the north its position is precarious, as it is in the south, where it is being pushed in very general terms. The high command has in fact been holding silence for some days, and leaving Goebbels' staff free to speculate from the resources of imagination, surmise and hope.

The invasion has lost all semblance of a blitzkrieg. It is now a war of "position" rather than a war of movement. On the central front the Russians are during the last week of the eleventh week back and captured considerable territory. The Nazi forces have not been able to cross the Dnieper, hard as they have tried. The fight for Leningrad is a ding-dong struggle. Moscow says it has more men under arms than when the war began—although it is not clear how many. The fight for Leningrad is a ding-dong struggle. Moscow says it has more men under arms than when the war began—although it is not clear how many.

Help from Britain and the Russian forces, while the R.A.F. poured bombs and shells on German military centres and communication lines. The end of the eleventh week does not show the situation on the eastern front as changed. And the Russian winter is one week nearer than it was!

Britain's Call To America

The point hammered home by President Roosevelt in his Labor Day message to the people of the United States was that Britain needs more "tools" and is supposed to get them if Hitlerism is to be stopped and smashed on the other side of the Atlantic. That was the keynote also of Mr. Bevan's address, heard on the same program. It was echoed by London newspapers, which urged—some of them with more zeal than tact—that the "Atlantic" communications crossing the Atlantic be broadened into a "river". Prime Minister Churchill and Prime Minister MacDonald stressed the same point in their addresses on Thursday.

When Lord Beaverbrook was called in to put speed into airplane production in Britain his slogan was "planes, and more planes, and more planes." Substituting "munitions" for "planes" in the slogan is the call of Britain to the hemisphere, for along with more planes Britain must have more tanks and more guns. The Greeks claim to have taken munitions of all sorts—with ever larger supplies of food to maintain its fighting forces and feed a population devoted more and more to the war.

While materials of many kinds are drawn from South America and from other continents, it is from Canada and the United States the bulk of these vital supplies must flow to Britain. These two countries are the arsenal in which the weapons of the war are produced, in the main. To the men in the factories and on the farms, the call is made to those in the Republic, this call for more "tools" and food is directed particularly, for there is no other source from which these tools and food can be obtained in sufficient amounts.

Ultimately the responsibility for helping to answer this appeal rests with the individual—every individual citizen of these two countries. If the need be met we shall each of us have to lend a hand, whether we work in munitions factories or on farms or follow other occupations. There must be less buying of luxuries, in order that labor and machinery and metals may be concentrated on the production of war materials. There must be a plainer scale of living, in order that money may be turned over to our governments to pay for the supplies Britain cannot pay for—and should not be asked to pay for.

In these and other ways the "man on the street" can help answer Britain's appeal for the tools with which to fight our common battle and the food to sustain its people. The outcome of the battle may depend on how well we are to get along without things, put with inconvenience, and to play the game with an intelligent regard to the hard facts of the situation.

The Dairy Front

The Canadian cow has been doing her bit during the summer, turning a threatened butter shortage last February into a surplus of creamy butter in storage amounting to more than 41,000,000 pounds, a million more than a year ago. Cheese in store is also more than 26,000,000 pounds, nearly double the amount at this date last year.

These reserves do not guarantee an abundant supply during the winter, for Britain requires both butter and cheese in practically unlimited quantities. The future of the dairy industry in Canada is therefore a matter of some importance, and the supply situation at present healthy, giving hope for the future.

Under the present conditions, the dairy industry in Canada is in a position to force prices further upward in the home market.

The Berlin radio is getting to be noted mainly for its habit of going off the air every evening, and thus telling the world the city is being bombed.

London firemen cheered when Prime Minister King told them Canadian firemen will likely go over soon to help them, while the London firemen's own meaning, London's fire-fighters have had a fearful time, and will welcome the help.

When Prince Konoye addressed a personal message to President Roosevelt, hopes were aroused everywhere that Japan was "coming to its senses" and might abandon its aggression policy. But on Monday an army spokesman went on the air at Tokyo to say Japan intends to carry out its plans even if this involves war with Great Britain and the United States.

The Refugee Question Again

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON

The situation regarding American visas for refugees from Fascist countries has been adequately clarified, and it is regrettable that the tendency is to become more and more illiberal, as the country grows more active in its efforts to defeat Fascism. This creates a moral dilemma for the American people, who are working, producing, and taking grave risks to eliminate the danger of Hitler's earth, while we continue a policy that denies anti-Fascist refugees the right to Hitler's henchmen, to his concentration camps, or to death.

AUTUMN SEASON BRINGS ROUND OF ACTIVITIES

Modern Ballroom Technique Requires New Instruction

Dancing Is Now Accomplishment In Social Life

By JOHN OLIVER

Arrival of autumn signifies a round of social activities with dancing as the main attraction and the hub of most of the gatherings. He or she who can dance is especially welcome. The wide range of modern ballroom dances makes it highly desirable that those attending such functions should be thoroughly versed in the latest steps. But, not only is ballroom dancing a phase of culture to be stressed. The training of children through physical education and the dance, the development of the body as a whole, through aerobic or gymnastic training is important to the young business woman.

Busy Musician

Taking a lead in choreography here is the Spanish school of which Mary Spankie is director. Graduate of the dancing master of America, she specializes in ballroom, tap, modern, adagio, modern and other dances.

Special reducing classes are being formed for ladies and children girls respectively, with the latest of another specialty in the instruction in dancing for babies two and one-half years and more.

Full classes will commence Sept. 16 at the studio, located in the Edmonton Hotel and Club building, 100 street, phone 21614.

NEW LADIES SERVICES
Mrs. Spankie recently returned from a trip through this country and the United States, during which she surveyed the whole trend of dancing and the latest developments in the field. She spent several weeks in Winnipeg where she met Gwyneth Lloyd, director of the Winnipeg Ballet Club and Betty Hey, her assistant. They are organizers for Western Canada of the Royal Academy of Dancing, London. Mrs. Spankie was fortunate in witnessing special demonstrations of their pupils, the display including all requirements of the Royal Academy.

It was pointed out by Mrs. Spankie that the Winnipeg Ballet Club "is an organization of young dancers devoted to the objective of forming a permanent repertory ballet company. Members are accepted through auditions and at the present time membership consists of 18 senior girls, 10 senior male dancers and 20 juniors."

At Vancouver, Mrs. Spankie visited the Summer School dancing. She declared that all dancing teachers in Canada will be glad to hear that the Royal Academy of Dancing will establish annual examinations, as has been done for many years in other dominions. On her trip, Mrs. Spankie studied latest methods in ballroom, modern, adagio, and other dance forms.

Australian, who has developed her own method for treating paralysis and is now associated with the University of Minnesota Hospital.

When Lawrence Lawrence, Metropolitan Opera soprano, set off for Mexico in June there was no hint of any trouble. Less than three months before he had been married to Thomas M. King and her career was definitely in the ascendant. In fact, the reason she was going to Mexico was because the Mexican government had paid her the equivalent of selecting her among all other singers as the only non-Mexican to appear in its first season of nationally sponsored opera. In June 24 Cyril Lawrence, her brother, announced in Mexico City that her legs were paralyzed.

TELLS STORY
Mr. Lawrence returned to New York last week with the full story of his sister's illness. She was vaccinated in the right leg against smallpox shortly before leaving with her husband and brother to smolder by easy stages to Mexico. The vaccination gave her trouble until they reached Laredo, Texas. Then her leg began to swell. But they reached their destination safely and even though the singer had headaches and her leg troubled her, she went through a week of rehearsals.

Then paralysis set in. She was taken first to Salt Lake, Ark. and then to Hot Springs, Va., and last week she was transferred to Minneapolis where she will be treated by Nurse Elizabeth Kenney, a fellow sufferer.

Famous Music College Now Active Here

The Board of Trinity College of Music, London, England, has recently organized a centre in the Edmonton district and Reverend J. Gordon Brown is chairman of the local committee.

The work of Trinity College is now so well known that there is little need to bring its merits to your attention.

It may, however be mentioned that the college was the first musical institution to hold local examinations in music and since they were established over a million and a half candidates have been examined. Centres are located all over the British Empire and many foreign countries. It has the largest entry list in the world. Last year over 60,000 candidates were examined and at Johannesburg last year two examiners were occupied eight hours every day for seven weeks examining the candidates at that centre alone.

Examinations are held not only for piano, singing and instrumental work, but also for elocution and it is felt that many teachers of elocution will welcome the opportunity of presenting their pupils for examination.

The examiners are men of outstanding ability. For instance this year the examiner from Dr. James L. O'Connell, one of England's greatest contemporary composers, has over 300 published works including a symphony, symphonic poem, four operas and two books on musical theory.

Another important feature of the Trinity College is that practical and theoretical examinations are held twice yearly in January and July. Copies of the syllabus can be obtained by writing the secretary at 1210 10th Street, Edmonton.

Keeping with the high plane on which his courses are conducted.

KATHLEEN GOULD
Kathleen Gould, A.T.C.M., has opened her piano studio for the new season. Her studio is located at 1069 10th Street, phone 25352, and her residence is at 1130 9th Street, phone 72984. Miss Gould, by employment of the most approved methods, has been singularly successful in preparing candidates for examination and has happily combined them both, contributing to the success of her teaching.

ALBERTA COLLEGE
A complete musical education can be obtained at Alberta College, University of Alberta, supervised by Dr. F. S. McGill, principal of the college. All branches of music are taught. Herby Wild, the musical director of the institution, has gathered together a highly-specialized group of teachers capable of providing a musical education the equal of that obtainable anywhere in the west. Fully established here for many years, Alberta College.

Are Affected By Artists' Actions

Kirsten Flinstra's decision to remain in Norway and Fritz Kreidler continuing convalescence certainly played a part in their booking agents. These two artists are two of the biggest attractions and so a great many judgments have had to be made. The violinist's manager has decided it would be wiser for Mr. Flinstra to remain in Norway.

Last Few Games Toughest

Cy Young, Winner of 511 Thinks Grove Will Cop 350

By ROBERT CRATER

NEWCOMETOWN, O., Sept. 6.—Denton Tsumch Young predicts that Robert Moose Grove will win 350 major league games before his remarkable career comes to a close.

Bob Grove, 41, recently swelled the membership of the highly exclusive 300 Club in his dozen, evenly distributed between the old school and the modern.

Because he pitched as late as 1911, when he confessed to 43, Denton T. Young must be listed among the moderns.

In 23 seasons, Cy Young won 511 major league games, which are more than the average pitcher sees.

Walter Perry Johnson is next with 414, and then come Grover Cleveland Alexander with 373, Christy Mathewson with 372 and Eddie Plank with 324.

Charles Nichols led the Old Guard with 300. Tom Kerr was credited with 342, John Clarkson with 327, Old Hoss Radbourne with 310, Mike Welch with 309 and Tim Lincecum with 302.

"I don't remember exactly how old I was when I won my 300th game," mused Cy Young, seated in the shade of a hardwood store entrance here. "I expect, and that I must have been 32 or 34, and still in my prime."

GROVE OBTAINED LEADER START IN BIG LEAGUE

In the matter of Cy Young celebrating the birth of the American League by bagging his 300th victory in 1901, when he switched from St. Louis of the National to Boston of the Baby Circuit, record books show Young was then 34, but the greatest pitcher ever lived seems to have been in his early managers that he was a little older than the family Bible said.

Cy now recalls having hit the big one before he was 30. The records say he was 23 when he crossed the Cleveland club.

Young points out that Lefty Grove was 23 when he broke into the American League with the Athletics, following five camps in Baltimore.

After winning his 300th victory, which proved elusive, Grove remarked that his next goal was 400. "I don't believe he can do it, though I don't know anyone more deserving," said Young.

"I go tougher as you go along. My last few years were hard ones."

FARMER YOUNG HADN'T LOST INTEREST IN GAME

Young farms near Peoli, a few miles southeast of Newcometown. Though well into the 70s, he is exceptionally active.

He toured with an old-timers team as recently as two or three years ago.

Young, grand old man, often attends games in Cleveland, scene of his first nine years of magnificent performance. There he chatted with major leaguers.

He is a close friend of Grove and never misses an opportunity to throw the fat with Lonscoping Lefty.

It was an extremely hot day, and someone remarked that the thermometer registered 91 in the shade. Cy Young shifted his familiar place and glanced up.

That's pretty warm all right, but I remember a day in Philadelphia when I was pitching for Cleveland that had this skinned, pitched the full nine innings and it was 111 in the shade.

"Ed, I won the game," he answered. "It was a silly question, at that time."

Straight Heats In Closing Races Indiana State

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Straight-heat victories were the order of the day in the closing program Friday of the Grand Circuit Harness racing program at the Indiana state fair.

Script, a brown gelding owned by W. A. McNair and Son of Oxford, Wis., captured the top event of the program by taking all three heats of the Hook Drug Company $1,000 three-year-old race.

Pearl McKee, trained by the Popular Hills Farm of Lexington, Ky., also took three heats in the 2:16 for $1,000 race.

The best time of the afternoon was turned in by The Woodman, owned by Roy Eastman, of Anderson, Ind., in winning three straight heats in the 2:14 for $1,000.

Willa Prince, owned by Clayton Wright of Maplewood, O., took all three heats of the 2:24 trot.

Tornadoes Take First At Calgary

CALGARY, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Driving over the goal line for two touchdowns, one of them converted, West Ed Tornadoes Friday night turned back the defending champions, East Ed Tornadoes, in a 10-0 victory at the Stampede Stadium in a crowd of close to 10,000.

Stampede, showing early alertness, jumped into a 5-0 lead when Batz went over the line for major points in the first quarter. West Ed wiped out the margin in the second.

Freese getting a try and Weaver converting, then went on to win the game in the third session as Weaver scored the line for another touchdown.

The major sport tragedy in the history of the University of Alberta is that the war and Coach Bob Fritz arrived at exactly the same time. The Golden Bells and Fritz in peace time, the green and gold might have marched to a national championship—hard as such an outcome game might have been to arrange. It is just another one of the grievances that of U. of A. men are working off against the Nazis with bombs, bullets and destroyers as they do their bit in all three branches of Canada's active service.

The Portside Hex

If you have an urge to do some research work in what makes human beings what they are, you don't need to go any farther than the first ball park. Why, for example, are left-handed batters generally success for left-handed pitching?

Warnerke has been pitching for 14 years, and he still can't understand why a left-handed batter is more allergic to a southpaw than a right-handed batter is to a right-hander.

"The right-handed pitcher can make the ball do just as many funny things and sling it just as well," explains Warnerke, "and the left-hander also can get the ball over the plate in the strike zone."

Still a lot of left-handed batters can't get a healthy foul off a southpaw.

"I have come to the conclusion that this is largely mental. Why, I'll show you left-handed pitching starting as a sting in hitting practice and left-handed batters unable to do a thing with them."

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The past few days have been dog days in major league baseball—and very wet ones too—but they are the lull before the final stormy drive into the world series. The thunder and lightning will come to be restricted to the National League, but the Dodgers and Cardinals promise to produce enough fireworks to hold the attention of all fans.

With the Yankees already in the world series trenches, the remaining teams in the American League will be only routing affairs so far as the majority of fans are concerned.

Today Brooklyn battles New York Giants in one game and tomorrow in two. The Cards have Cincinnati Reds on their hands for the same schedule.

Monday all clubs in both leagues have an open date and then Tuesday the last interleague warfare of the season will get under way. After the Dodgers have faced two games at Chicago and St. Louis has entertained the Phillies in a pair, the Cards and Dodgers will get at each other's throats once more.

The three games at St. Louis Thursday, Friday and Saturday might go a long way toward settling things, and they might not.

Monday's pitching staff for them: Fred Fitzsimmons, left and right, is slated to pitch the first game and will be before then. He beat the Cards with a magnificent relief job in St. Louis July 31 and pitched shutout ball against them for six innings Aug. 26 only to lose the game in the last two.

Billie Wyatt will work the second game and Curt Davis the third. Whitey Southworth will counter with Ernie White and Howard Pollock in the first two games and if these two left-handers get along all right he may get another southpaw, Max Lanier, at the Dodgers in the final game.

Major Leagues Refuse Plea Give Minors Any Say

CINCINNATI, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The plea of minor leagues for a vote in the selection of future major league commissioners was denied Friday at the meeting of major-league executive committees.

The minor leagues, represented by George W. Traben, president of the American Association and Thammie Scott, president of the Southern Association, proposed that each major league have one vote in the election of a future major league commissioner to succeed Judge K. M. Landis, and the combined minor leagues be given a third vote.

Major league executives turned down the suggestion and voted continuance of the present procedure under which each major league club has one vote, for a total of 16.

Codification of rules took up the remainder of the session and involved only minor changes designed to clarify meaning. All must be approved at the winter meeting of the major and minor leagues.

Tulsa Oiler Is Real Utility Man

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Ed Zydowsky, the Texas League jack of all trades, will demonstrate his amazing versatility Sunday by playing all nine positions in a game with the Beaumont Exporters.

Zydowsky, whose all-around patrol zone any one on the field has been known to call "the little man," will play all nine positions in a game with the Beaumont Exporters.

Along With The Weather, Ducks Have Gone Plumb Loco

By J. M. GILROY
EXCLUSIVELY IN EDMONTON BULLETIN

NORTHVILLE, Sept. 6.—Among the weird phenomena noted for the current year of grace, not the least noteworthy is the erratic behavior of the ducks. Ordinarily these feathered folk are reckoned to be exemplars of normal behavior, noted for the clocklike regularity with which they observe the seasons, but this year their calendars seem to have gone haywire.

Such, at any rate is the observation of Ed Wilson, an Evansburg, Ind., resident, who has been a mallard, a perill to pinjals, a tern to lead, a snipe or snipe, and a blaster of blusters.

"It's like this," philosophized Mr. Wilson in the course of a recent jump on Chip Lake, a year effort to keep cool, "in a vain like this."

Wholly Cockeyed

Warming up to the subject along with the car as they proceeded along a treeless stretch of trail under a sun that would not give you water on the brain, but also bolt the water, Mr. Wilson commented: "Yeah, we had Timberline temperatures, Siberian cyclones, a desert drought, hailstorms like a million guns, and boy, did it rain."

He added: "Yeah, we had a drought, a desert drought, hailstorms like a million guns, and boy, did it rain."

Discovering White Hopes Induces Severe Neck Pains

By HARRY FERGUSON

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(BUP)—Remember the good old days when Jack Johnson was head man of the heavyweight and everybody who didn't have anything else to do was running up and down the country-side looking for a white hope?

Well, those days are here again. Now comes a Mr. Frank Barboro, of Detroit, who says he is going to conduct a big tournament in the hope of producing a new white hope who will rise out of obscurity and knock Joe Louis kicking.

It is difficult at this stage of proceedings to tell whether Mr. Barboro really is concerned over the boxing situation or whether he merely is trying to grab off a piece of publicity for a night spot he opened in Detroit.

What I have my suspicion, and, being a sportsman, I will give them the benefit of the doubt, is that Mr. Barboro wants some publicity. Why is it necessary to find a white hope? And if it is necessary what is the point of finding a white hope? Now? He is white, he is hopeful and he can fight, as you will see when he and Louis box together on the 26th of this month.

Mr. Barboro's stunt has been tried before, and it would be a good idea for him to consult with James J. Johnston before devoting time and money to a tournament. Johnston once inserted an ad in the papers announcing that he would interview young men with strong backs, sufficient weight and muscle measure with a dash of courage who were interested in trying for a shot at the heavyweight championship.

The result left Mr. Johnston perplexed, which is no small feat if you know Mr. Johnston. They came from everywhere. They were fat, thin, bow-legged, crooked and some of them were super physical specimens. The only difficulty was that none of them could fight a lick. Johnston, weighing about 135 with his pockets stuffed with $5 gold pieces, could lick any of them and frequently threatened to do so.

After a time, Mr. Johnston abandoned his idea and went back to the theory that it was better to get one good heavyweight prospect and sink or swim with him.

In Jack Johnston's time there may have been some justification for conducting a search for a white hope. Johnston had infinite talent for getting himself into difficulties and, while he was always being counted out, but while the process is going on he is holding one glove aloft to shade his eyes from the fierce glare of the semi-trapical sun.

What I would like to ask and I hereby do risk it what is the matter

ROBBIE BURNS—An Honoured Name

The very name of Robbie Burns is an inspiration to high ideals—a constant urge never to depart from the original Robbie Burns formula that made the whisky famous.

The strength and authority of Robbie Burns Whiskies are tempered by the rounded mellowness of the age-old imported Scotch Malt Whiskies from which it is blended. It is a man's whisky blended to a man's taste.

Rich North Is Boon To City M.P. Declares

With the great north area so richly endowed with everything

Mr MacNicol, a retired businessman, spent three weeks covering approximately 4,000 miles by rail, motor car and plane, making an investigation of natural resources and their possible development for after-the-war rehabilitation in the district that lies north and west of Edmonton.

TARSAND DEPOSITS
Inexhaustible deposits of tarsand around McMurray, oil deposits at numerous points, gold mines, other minerals, fur, forest products, fish and agricultural products are resources for which the surface has barely been scratched and are ample evidence that Edmonton has in the hinterland of the north that which should make it a great city. AN

The chief hindrance to rapid growth of the northern areas and subsequently of this city is the lack of sufficient rail and highway facilities, he stated. Mr. MacNicol feels that with more transportation facilities provided northward and westward Edmonton should grow much faster than it has to date.

Elephants reached South America from Africa by land, but it took millions of years to do it. They traveled land bridges from Africa to Europe, across Asia and Alaska, and south across Panama.

GERMANS FIND POSITION PRECARIOUS Moscow Has Strong Impression Events Taking Favorable Turn

By ALEXANDER WERTH
MOSCOW, Sept. 6.—(CP-Reuters)—There is a strong impression in Moscow today that events are taking a more favorable turn although the latest Soviet communiqué confines itself to a general statement that fighting continues on all fronts.

The defense of Leningrad, that of Kiev and especially Odessa, has been regarded with immense importance.

The Germans in the Leningrad area are conducting with enormous Russian forces against which they are obliged to send constant reinforcements if their positions are to be maintained at all.

The German radio's powerful counter-attack in the Leningrad area is regarded as an extremely serious position, and that their troops lack being cut off by a double Russian thrust from Leningrad and from a southern direction.

Since the constant German concern to strengthen the Novgorod "bridge" southeast of Leningrad.

There is a growing belief in some quarters that the German realize the capture of Leningrad is hopeless, especially in a reasonable time. They may attempt to buy it and drive it back south from Leningrad towards the Upper Volga and possibly to Moscow.

The risk of such a move, with Marshal Voroshilov's famous army around Leningrad, ready for powerful air and sea operations, need not be emphasized.

The central sector around Smolensk seems to be somewhat stabilized. Here the Germans have adopted a defensive attitude.

The news is received from various sides that the Germans have not succeeded in crossing the Dnieper river south of Kiev. Despite numerous attempts apparently with effort to cross the river has been smashed by Russian vigilance.

The southern approach, through which British goods from India and England are routed, winds through the Straits of Chosen—two channels about 20 miles wide at their narrowest point, on either side of a Japanese island. The naval bases at Funan and Shimoda dominate these waters.

Another channel to Vladivostok passes between the southern peninsula of Hokkaido, Japan's second largest island, and the island of Sakhalin, the southernmost peninsula of Manchukuo. Through this strait the route from San Francisco is about 3,000 miles long.

War Industry In Australia Decentralized

One of the most extensive war efforts that industrial activities in Australia are putting forth is the decentralization of war industry in centres where population is unbalanced.

L. L. Moore, Governor-General, stated in a speech at the opening of the new branch of the Australian Manufacturers' Association, Perth, that this was a very important step toward decentralization of war industry.

After visiting approximately 400 industrial firms and about 100 military plants, the commissioner stated that, taking into consideration the war effort, it was imperative that the war effort be decentralized.

No Merchantmen Sunk For Past Seven Weeks In Old Hunting Ground

By DREW MIDDLETON
WITH ANGLO-AMERICAN FORCES IN ICELAND, Sept. 6.—(AP)—U-boat sinkings have dropped to a new low since British and American planes and ships began their unremitting patrol of the northern waters and according to one report not a single merchantman has been sunk on the northern route from the United States to Britain in seven weeks.

Soldiers, sailors and airmen of the United States and Great Britain, laboring night in deep and abiding combat, have turned the waters and windswept wastes into a Gibraltar of the north, safeguarding a vital link in British-American communications.

So tightly has the North Atlantic been barred that only isolated submarines venture into the former happy hunting grounds.

Iceland, bristling with guns, dotted with airfields and her waters combed by destroyers flying the Stars and Stripes and the White Eagle, is the keystone of a communications arch over which arms and material of the New World pass to Britain.

The line runs from Britain to Iceland to Greenland to Newfoundland to ports of the northeastern United States. The United States fleet, the American Navy, is in Newfoundland and has an increasing large stake in the protection of this lifeline.

Two factors impress observers after a tour of the island's defenses. The American Navy, patrolling the waters and windswept wastes, is no longer held back by the narrow straits of the North Atlantic.

It is impossible to reveal numbers, but the American Navy, patrolling the waters and windswept wastes, is no longer held back by the narrow straits of the North Atlantic.

R.C.M. Police Saved Probe By One Yard

R.C.M.P. missed by just one yard having to investigate a charge of breaking into city police court Friday.

And by the same three feet city police officers had the case closed.

The case involved two women. One charged the other with assaulting her by hitting a piece of coal and a rock at her as she walked by.

Some of the alleged assault was just three feet from the boundary line separating the village of Beverly from the City of Edmonton.

Magistrate Miller dismissed the charge without comment.

More To Movie Makeup Than Meets The Average Fan's Eye

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 6.—Tricks of the trade: There are a lot of interesting facts in movie-making that the public seldom hears about, but which, so far as I can see, detract nothing from the illusion and glamour of the screen. Many of the things usually taken for granted—just a lot of grease-paint, some eyeshadow and lipstick—but it's much more complex in almost every case.

The fact that Claudette Colbert prefers being photographed only from the left side has been mentioned many times, but few fans realize that almost every star has some favorite way of appearing before the camera, especially in close-ups. Faces seldom are symmetrical, generally speaking, and the camera, and sometimes movie makers, have been recommended at considerable expense that a star can move into a scene at a just flattering angle.

The trick is in finding out just what to do. Marlene Dietrich played across in the glamor film when she discovered that a thin white line drawn along the edge of her lower eyelids made her eyes look larger. Lucille Ball used gold leaf on her upper eyelids to gain a languorous appearance.

TRACY SPURNS PAINT

Spencer Tracy rarely uses makeup because he does most of his acting with the wrinkles in his forehead and he doesn't want them obscured. It's a joke among makeup artists that screen heroes almost always ask to be made up like looking, or at least more virile, while heavy-lidded women want to be made handsome.

Speaking of eyes, Colleen Moore had one brown and one blue eye, and her shiny black hair was shaved in to draw attention away from movie history, but there's no telling how far Veronica Lake's one-eyed draple will go.

Hollywood has about 150 makeup-men, 20 of whom are top-notchers with salaries up to $400 a week. Even an ordinary makeup artist gets about $150 a week. But there's no use coming out here to get a job in the paint-brush and powder-puff business: the union has everything sewed up.

Stars seldom wear makeup for publicity stills because it shows too plainly in photographs. Instead, the pictures are retouched. A thin permanent paint line is drawn over their foreheads and around their eyes to make them appear a trifle more handsome.

Negroes usually are lightened up with a special cream, but Indians must be darkened. There are 35 shades of powder, and 28 shades of lipstick, and 30 shades of liquid makeup for actors' legs and feet. But the makeup men use only three shades of lipstick, while retail stores sell it in a dozen shades.

The budget of a million-dollar picture usually allows about $100,000 for makeup, but much more if a picture with wig. Long, fine, wavy hair may cost as much as $75,000. Cecil De Mille was the first to insist on human-hair wigs. Previously they had been made of everything from goat hair to the excelsior, and looked like it on the screen.

Many men of the movies have worn chest wigs for an appearance of virility in fight scenes, but in other kinds of scenes in which they are bared to the waist some have had to have their chest shaved.

Stories In Stamps

U.S. Navy Mail Guard South American Nations

Western hemisphere defense, as far as naval power is concerned, rests with the U.S. navy. Many of the republics of the Americas have no navies, and the fleets of the others are filled with obsolete battle craft. There are five battleships, 17 cruisers and 28 destroyers in South American navies.

Argentina, which honored its naval forces with the stamp above, marking the last voyage of the training ship "Presidente Balmaceda" is building five new destroyers and five patrol vessels. Two battleships, six cruisers, a training cruiser, 17 destroyers, three submarines, five patrol vessels, two river monitors and six small transports make up Argentina's navy.

Brazil has two battleships, two cruisers, one destroyer, two torpedo boats, four submarines, one gunboat, three river monitors, seven patrol vessels and six transports. Chile counts one battleship, two coast defense ships, three cruisers, eight destroyers, nine submarines, six coast guard vessels.

Other craft include Cuba, two cruisers; Peru, two cruisers; two destroyers, four submarines; Mexico, six transports, 10 new gunboats.

"Punny Pomes" For Better Or For Verse) Burst Upon Unsuspecting Dominion

Tom Jones and Bill Smith were good friends. They were very best pals until this. Tom Jones bought a new suit on credit. And told the clerk just to—
—Bill Smith.

All right, ladies and lassies, sharpen your sense of the ridiculous—and your pencils. A new national madness is upon us, hailed by its devotees as a logical successor to "Hamlet" and "Knock, Knock." In charge and cafeteria society, in towns big and small, they are playing this daisy new game, called "Punny Pomes" . . . Here's how it's done. Take the name of a famous person or of a friend. Now think up a pun on that name. Then make up a short verse so that the punch line is the name you've chosen, used as a pun. When you write down the verse, set the name that you've punned on a line by itself—the way you'd credit an author if you were quoting some of his verse . . . You'll get the idea from the "Punny Pomes" above. Simple, eh? Yes, "simple" is right!

Name Is Adolf

Two months have elapsed in boys' work in Edmonton and it is now about time for mentors and prospective mentors of Tuxis and Trail Trainers to be considered for a program for fall and winter season, officials said this week.

This year, to help the work get an early start, a Mentors' Club has been formed with the idea of interesting young men in boys' work so that they can lead a group with the assurance that they have some support behind them.

The first meeting of the club got away Monday at the Y.M.C.A. at 7:15 p.m. There will be four meetings during the month of September, with monthly meetings after the last meeting in September.

Interested ministers will take the following periods: Wednesday, 7:15 p.m.; Friday, 7:15 p.m.; Saturday, 10:00 a.m.; and Sunday, 10:00 a.m.

Officials say that boys' work this year is going to be the best ever. Young men who are interested are asked to be sure and attend the first meeting Monday at the Y.M.C.A.

Youth Parade

By Bert Nightingale Jr.

Editor Bulletin Youth Page

The cat that prowls with gleaming green eyes through the darkest city streets doesn't see much more than the man and the boy, who hold positions on the night shifts of business firms which operate on a full-time basis. Such men and boys are these human night owls, living as they must on an entirely different set-up than their waking-hour comrades on the day side, in many cases are the type of people who develop the habits of night owls, and thus much more likely to have to work much more intensely. They are equipped to think their hardest and deepest under artificial light.

Just such a chap as this is one with whom I came in contact this summer for a couple of weeks. He was what you might call a night owl, and he was a night owl, and he was a night owl.

This lad had a strange but not-so-new philosophy of life, and one that might be interesting to young people moving into higher grades at school and beginning to think things out for themselves, an ability that is never fully developed in anyone from what I've seen, and certainly not by this writer to any more than the average extent. Therefore, my night owl friend, who in spite of his minority, had taken a powerful step in this direction, was one worthy of note.

ROUGH EDGES DON'T DIG

His idea of living might be termed a "fatalistic watchfulness." That is, he accepted life as it came and yet took care that none of the rough edges dug into him. He figured that life had been napped out for him by a Surveyor who wanted to be argued with, but he also figured that the Surveyor realized there might be some trouble on this particular route which would have to be dealt with along the way. My friend dealt with them as his own duty.

I'm not offering an autographed picture of myself to anyone who brings forth interesting philosophies on life. I'm putting this down in print as one of the side glances into people that very often lead to worthwhile studies, or random thoughts. Good chaps, these thinkers.

McCoys Health Service

Quite often in this column I receive from readers to have a good examination and I receive quite a large number of letters from time to time asking just what I mean by that, so today I am going to move you the high light on the function of a good examination is.

Years ago when father was a boy, the doctor would ask the patient some questions, take his pulse and perhaps listen to his heart and chest sounds. His ability to make a diagnosis depended on how far the disease had progressed, but if he was called in the early stages of the disease he often had to wait until further symptoms developed, from which to make a diagnosis.

With the great advances made by scientists in recent years we have at our disposal diagnostic equipment which rules out guess work. Physicians of all schools universally agree that the early recognition of the disease hastens a cure, in any case, the suffering which the patient is saved.

A good example of this is tuberculosis which is an insidious disease and of which the patient may be totally unaware until the chest has been X-rayed and the tell-tale lesions detected.

A good examination could not only rule out the use of X-ray pictures but also of the fluoroscopic X-ray. When the doctor uses the fluoroscope he can see the organs as they work and this is invaluable in examining the heart, lungs and gastro-intestinal tract. I believe that every thorough examination should include a complete X-ray of the teeth to locate any focal infection.

A study of the blood pressure should be made and if it is found to be too high then the doctor should make a series of other tests to discover the cause, since blood pressure is a disease but a symptom. There should also be a hearing test where in the body.
